The Department of Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation has numerous ongoing clinical studies. These include survey reports, exercise studies and outcomes studies on joint health. Active Research Studies looking for participant enrollment are listed below:

- Archery-Related Injuries and Shooting Motion in Youth [1]
- Biomechanics of Lacrosse [2]
- Biomechanics of lacrosse motions and lower body injury risk [3]
- UF Health Knee Osteoarthritis Contact Registry [6]
- UF Running Medicine Clinic Research Contact Registry [7]
- Well-Being of Injured Runners during the Return-to-Run Rehabilitation Period [8]
- What happens when you cadence as you run downhill? [9]

Source URL: http://www.ortho.ufl.edu/research-studies

Links: