Support Our Mission: Make a Gift!

How will your change our tomorrow?

There are many ways to support the University of Florida Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine Institute and help us achieve excellence in our missions of education, research, patient care and service to community.

Cash and Securities - among the most popular types of gifts. You may choose to restrict your gift to specific programs or educational purposes.

Real Estate - the College of Medicine welcomes and encourages gifts of real estate, which can significantly enhance our productivity and performance and provide substantial tax benefits for donors.

Planned Giving - there are various planned giving methods to support the College of Medicine. Each offers opportunities to have a major impact upon college excellence as well as numerous benefits for donors, including bequests, gift annuities and charitable remainder trusts. For more information on planned giving and estate gifts, please visit Planned Giving online [1].

Endowed Gifts - you can create a permanent fund for a specific purpose at the College of Medicine. Your fund will be invested and managed by the University of Florida Foundation to provide a steady and reliable income stream forever. Endowments may be named in your honor or that of a loved one.
